At Institute Festival

Representing the Andover Recreation Council, the recently formed Community Chorus will sing a group of around-the-world songs at the annual Folk Festival of the International Institute, a United Fund agency, to be held Saturday, April 29, at the Central Catholic Auditorium in Lawrence.

A spring event of unusual interest is being planned by the Andover Garden Club. Called Garden Coffees, and under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph L. Daly, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Bradley, four members' gardens will be open to members and their guests in May and June.

May 23 from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon, the gardens of Mrs. John M. Stewart, 36 Bancroft rd. and Mrs. George W. Harper, 20 Judson rd., will be open.

Mrs. Stewart's home is a charmingly restored one, built in 1780, and typical of our New England countryside. The lovely gardens surrounding the house have extensive border plantings which give a formal effect in an informal setting. Flowering trees, shrubs and perennials, as well as many spring flowers make up these borders. The many varieties and colors of tulips are outstanding.

Also at Mrs. Stewart's, a plant sale will be held under the direction of Mrs. Foster C. Barnard. Both Amendments to the zoning by-laws will be proposed, seeking to define the extent to which trucks can be parked in residential districts.

Agreement on that course of action came at a meeting Monday night, attended by nearly 75 contractors, builders and truck owners.

They also decided not to appeal a recent Superior Court ruling, relating to the parking of a truck by Joseph W. Hoffman in his yard at 57 Marilyn dr.

Atty. Richard Johnson, of the Boston law firm Ropes and Grey, advised against the appeal. He told the gathering that any Supreme Court decision would relate entirely to the Hoffman decision, and would not apply to any other residents who take trucks home at night. Each case, he asserted, must be judged on its own facts, which may be slightly different from those in the Hoffman case.

Instead of appealing, he suggested that suitable amendments be requested, spelling out permission to park trucks of certain sizes. Atty. Johnson also informed the group that it might be wise to leave some of the parking problem up to the Board of Appeals, specially relating to trucks of larger sizes.

However, he said there is, at present, no authority for the Appeals Board to act in parking cases.

The Board may grant variances where hardship exists involving real estate, he explained, but this does not apply to hardships a man might suffer in his business.

Sacrament Of Confirmation Conferred On 150 Tuesday

The Sacrament of Confirmation was conferred on 150 boys and girls of St. Augustine's parish Tuesday afternoon by Most Rev. Thomas J. Riley, D.D., auxiliary Bishop of Boston.

Thus even if all parking is to be decided by the Appeals Board, this must be provided for in the by-laws.

Mr. Johnson has agreed to draft amendments to the by-laws for the group - but he has not undertaken to decide the various sizes of trucks that might be specified in the draft.

This question will be faced by a committee of five, who will be appointed by the chairman, James D. Hamilton of Reservation rd.

On suggestion of Sidney P. White, this committee will confer with the special committee working on re-codification of the town by-laws. Headed by Atty. Robert Zollner, this three-member committee has

More CO-OP Cash Payments

Several hundred more CO-OP checks are about to go out. These are for interest to those friends of the CO-OP who invested their money in our Store Expansion Program.

Just a year ago, when we asked $75,000 from our members and friends, we were rather apprehensive about raising so large an amount of cash. But we were due for a delightful surprise.

Without personal solicitations or pressures of any kind, our friends oversubscribed our loan by 40%! Just under $105,000 came in.

For one thing, this proves that a lot of people have a lot of confidence in this local business enterprise. And it also suggests that the Andover CO-OP may merit that confidence.

With our first annual interest checks goes our hearty "Thank You" to our many friends who invested over a tenth of a million dollars in our future. We like to take in cash. We like to hand it out, too.

If you prefer to receive greenbacks to green scrip, we remind you that all purchases at the CO-OP are subject to a CASH refund to our member-shoppers.

We know of no thing as good as CASH. Do you?

WHERE, OH WHERE is my parakeet gone. The "gone" bird in this picture has taken up residence in the home of Philip Wormwood on Lowell Junction rd. Last Saturday afternoon he evidently decided that freedom required more sacrifices than he was willing to concede. So he tapped on the window of a neighbor's house to open the door and in he flew, to warm his wing tips and eat the crumbs that were proffered. Lodgings were secured with Mr. Wormwood's parakeet who, up to the time of this writing, has not extended the glad claw to his fellow boarder. The stranger is yellow and green, and has a spotted throat; and he answers to no name tried so far. Anyone who can identify this bird is urged to do so.

been at work re-writing the by-laws to gain simplicity and to remove any inconsistencies.

It was Mr. White's suggestion that proposed amendments should be first discussed with this committee, then referred by its members to the Planning Board.

It is also contemplated that a petition will be circulated, to accompany the proposed amendment.

Discussion of the entire subject - with many of the contractors asking questions relating to their own trucks - developed these legal opinions:

Dump trucks and other larger vehicles are quite probably not properly parked in residential areas, unless subject to provisions of the non-conforming use statutes.

A Wellesley case specifically stated that a dump truck, a cement mixer, and a pick-up truck were in violation of the by-law there. Atty. Johnson felt that the pick-up might not have been as objectionable, had not the other trucks also been parked in the residential section.

Town vehicles, taken home for emergency calls, would be subject to the same zoning restrictions as any other vehicles - thus, if others are banned, so would the town's trucks.

The previous granting of building permits for garages in single residence districts, for use by a contractor, is not a valid reason now for allowing the contractor to remain. Mr. Johnson said the contractor in such a case has no grounds for a claim that his actions were permissible because he received a building permit.

The attorney said he believes that the use of a station wagon by a surveyor, for example, who keeps his equipment in the vehicle, would not be in violation.

And he also pointed out that there are many border-line cases in such a situation as now faces the town. While small vehicles might be permitted under a by-law, what might be called middle-sized vehicles might be subject to Board of Appeals ruling. Some contractors present suggested that a method should be worked out that would not react unfavorably against some, with larger vehicles.

In the present situation, Mr. Johnson told the contractors that, should the town wish to seek out violations, each case must be taken to court separately. He thought this course of action, with possibly 200 persons involved, might not be adopted. He also suggested that, if a study of amendments is being undertaken, the town officials might be requested to await some decision from a town meeting before proceeding with various cases around the town.

Noting that the Selectmen have decided to instruct the building inspector to order Mr. Hoffman to conform to the Superior Court ruling - in effect, move his truck - Mr. Johnson noted that this can not be taken to mean that all trucks of the same size are automatically in violation.

During the meeting, one resident reported that the town manager has made one effort recently to solve the problem. He was reported to have discussed the case with the persons who brought it, Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Setterblade, 56 Marilyn dr., suggesting that garaging of the truck might be a solution. He was reported to have received a flat "no" in response to his inquiry. The manager also was reported to have said that the town is not intending to seek out problems of this nature and that the order will affect only Mr. Hoffman.

Board Denies Variance Request
The Appeals Board has denied a request for permission to build on an undersized lot on River rd. Julia D. Tomzak appealed for a variance. The Board found that the lot would have been smaller than required under previous by-laws, and is far undersized in the present Residence C zone. By unanimous decision, the Board said granting the variance would not be in the best interests of the neighborhood, and would be contrary to the by-law.

Children Saved
From House Fire

Two children were rescued last Friday night, when fire threatened to engulf their home at 79 North st.

Miss Pauline Gallant, co-occupant of the two-family home, saved Robert Denise, 10, and George Denise, 8, who were asleep when the fire broke out. Elaine Denise, 14, notified fire headquarters before fleeing the building. She told Deputy Fire Chief John T. Cole that she was checking an oil-burning space heater before retiring, and that it started to smoke. Miss Gallant said oil dropped to a carpet and the fire spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Etienne Denise were greeted by the flames as they returned home. The Lawrence Fire Department also answered the call, when a motorist rang in an alarm in that city, believing the fire to be there.

The fire was contained within the room, except for some burning in the partition and the second floor.

Lawrence Co-operative bank was good to him, too. They gave him nice, juicy dividends four times a year. They insured every penny in his account. And, they made it convenient for him to save - gave him a choice of going to their offices on Lawrence Street or any office of the Merrimack Valley National Bank.

The pageant will take place at the church on the afternoon of Sunday, Oct. 15, the first day of the eight-day anniversary celebration. The pageant will be preceded by a historical procession which will begin on Andover hill and march down School st. to the Church. The committee would appreciate hearing about any articles having the flavor of old Andover which could be borrowed for this occasion. Particularly useful would be clothing, weapons, or vehicles such as ox-carts, wagons, or carriages for the procession and pageant, and utensils, pictures, books, documents, and even small articles of furniture for the pageant and historical exhibit.

Other events which will be held during the anniversary week include special worship services Oct. 15 and 22, a gala banquet on the anniversary date, Tuesday, Oct. 17; a musical service, a youth program, and an historical exhibit Friday, Oct. 20. Fred E. Cheever is chairman of the Historical Exhibit Sub-committee. Elbert C. Weaver is chairman of the general committee.

Jonathan Langdell, 42 Clark rd., and Albert Comeau, 105 Lovejoy rd., along with William Igoe, director of guidance for the Andover Public Schools, will discuss "How College will Prepare You For A Career In Engineering."

The series is presented weekly in co-operation with Northeastern University's Occupational Information Service.

On hand to answer the students' questions will be Dr. William T. Alexander, Dean of Northeastern's College of Engineering, and Dr. William S. Brown, Dean of the School of Education at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Go Slowly, Now

The group of contractors and interested citizens who met Monday night to consider the truck-parking problems arrived at a decision that makes good sense.

The group will undertake to have the zoning by-laws amended, in proper legal fashion, to the end that the by-law will spell out exactly what type of trucks may be parked in a residential area, if any.

This is a question that must be answered — and there's no better way than to bring the entire problem before a town meeting.

While this effort is being carried on — and this may take some time — it is to be hoped that residents of the town will maintain a hands-off attitude in respect to making formal complaints to the town government about parking in their neighborhoods. According to legal advice, each parking case is an entity, and must go through the courts by itself and be judged on its own merits. This would be a long, involved procedure, and would be a very costly matter if any substantial number of complaints should require action in the immediate future.

A solution is in sight. Doesn't it make sense to wait and find out what the voters want done in this complex situation before becoming involved in many legal tussles? When town meeting acts on the amendments, it will either ban all parking of trucks, or it will provide some specific definition of proper parking. Then enforcement will be simplified, and the legal problems will become less serious.

Even those who are most anxious to ban truck parking, and who base their arguments on the necessity for protecting the town and its residential areas, should see that involving the town in a series of suits will be to its disadvantage.

The best thing that can be done right now is nothing, until the proper administrative procedures can be followed and the subject can be put before the voters for action.

Another Andover First

Andover's action in approving a Constitutional Convention, and notifying all cities and towns in the Commonwealth of this step, puts this community in the forefront of the drive to modernize state government.

Inquiries have been received from several areas of the state, since the resolution was mailed — an indication that the cities and towns themselves are becoming more interested in achieving this goal.

Change in a document such as the state constitution is a giant undertaking, and it will not come quickly. All of the joint efforts will still not result in accomplishing this overnight.

But as more and more communities come to realize the importance of considering some of the archaic features of our constitution at a convention called specifically for that purpose, it becomes more likely that one will be held eventually.

Andover's reputation throughout the state is enhanced by its prompt action in endorsing the convention approach.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — April, 1911

Frank L. Smith is ill with tonsillitis at his home on Chestnut st.

J. E. Pitman has accepted the contract for building the new house for Andrew Basso on Chestnut st.

The trials for the Andover-Exeter debate will be held this evening. The subject is: "Resolved that the Panama canal should be neutralized".

Hardy and Cole have received the contract for remodeling and making extensive alterations to the Bartlett house on Central st.

Work has commenced on the house to be built by Henry A. Bodwell on Morton st.

The Rev. C. J. Mehlson, the new Methodist minister, although a young man, comes to Ballardvale after considerable experience in the ministry.

Harry Purrington left town this week for Manchester-by-the-Sea, where he will be assistant manager of the new Manchester Trust Co.

25 Years Ago — April, 1936

Unemployment is on the increase again, and welfare demands are going up sharply. The recent flood has a lot to do with the situation, as many of the mills have been slack. About 80 men are working on the WPA, but many others, now unemployed, are not eligible for technical reasons.

Miss Joan Moody will be valedictorian of the class of 1936 at Pynchard High. Principal Nathan C. Hamblin announced the annual honors this week. Salutatorian is Miss Isabelle MacLaren. Miss Patricia Lowry and Miss Katherine McGlynn are the first and second honor essayists.

Ralph T. Berry, tree warden for eight years, has resigned. The Selectmen have appointed James Buss, an employee of the department, to serve the unexpired elective term. He also will fill the appointive job of moth superintendent, formerly held by Mr. Berry.

The biennial pre-primary election will be held next Tuesday, with the polling places being open from noon to 8 p.m. in all six precincts. Town committee members and delegates to national political conventions will be elected. There is also a preferential listing, so that voters can express their choice for presidential nominees.

ANCIENT HISTORY

I'm sure the ancient dinosaurs
Were quite refreshed by April showers;
Likewise the auk
With special squawk
Gave praise to lovely spring time's powers.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"I have been following the Townsman news items and editorial on the 'Truck Case' very closely. My interest derives from the fact that I have a strong desire to do what I can to preserve the general character of Andover from any down grading. Some of the attitudes and approaches of interested parties, as they are covered in the Townsman, make me wonder about just what is going on. Perhaps a few examples will indicate just what I mean."

"One peculiar circumstance that I have been wondering about is that the Townsman went out of its way to interview the attorney for Hoffman. It has written extensively of the views of Town Counsel. The reaction of the truck owners has been covered thoroughly. What about the unorganized and unrepresented residence owner? What about counsel for the Petitioner? Isn't anybody interested in their views? The only conclusion I can come to is that the vocal few are going to try to take advantage of the silent many, if they can get away with it. I see tears shed for the few dozen businesses which may be involved in this situation but a lot of dry eyes and glassy stares for the thousands of home owners whose properties and values can be affected adversely."

"To quote from your news column of April 13, 1961, 'But the legal minds are at sharp variance in determining just what the ruling does say.' Let me quote from the ruling."

"Let a Writ of Mandamus issue commanding the Respondent as Building Inspector to enforce the zoning By-laws of the Town of Andover and to bring appropriate legal proceedings as prayed for against the Respondent Joseph W. Hoffman."

"I could understand some confusion, if one is not too familiar with the law, as to just what enforcing the by-laws means but I can not understand completely ignoring the three words I underlined i.e. 'as prayed for'. Certainly counsel for the Town and counsel for the Respondent must know what the Petitioner 'prayed for' or were they defending against an uncertain petition without attacking it on that ground."

"In your editorial of the 13th you state 'A Supreme Court ruling in a Wellesley case apparently makes it crystal-clear that dump trucks are not allowed, - - - -'. Again in your news column you note that 'Mr. O'Brien pointed out this week that parking dump trucks, for example, clearly is a violation."

10 Years Ago — April, 1951

The annual Abbot Academy bazaar will be held May 5, and will be opened officially by the French consul general of Boston. The theme of this year's bazaar has been developed in connection with the 2000th year of the City of Paris, France.

First response to the initial drive of the Andover Visiting Nurse Association is encouraging, according to Edward A. Romeo, chairman. The goal for this first town-wide drive is $6,000, and some 2,900 letters have been sent out requesting support.

This is based on a case brought by the Town of Wellesley against an inhabitant of the town, which was heard by the Supreme Court. It certainly is a fair inference from these two statements that it is anything but 'crystal-clear' that other trucks were covered by the Wellesley case. However, this is not so. The court in this case said:

"There is no basis for holding that the persistent parking of the pick-up truck, a business vehicle, is incidental to residential use of the premises."

"The pick-up truck was subsequently ordered off the premises and the court order forbade 'any other truck or trucks.'"

"The above Superior Court decision is not unusual. That court has been very diligent in guarding residential areas from degrading uses. In another case decided in 1953, i.e. Pratt V. Building Inspector of Gloucester, 330 Mass. 344, the court said:

"When the question arises as to uses which in general tend to become deleterious to a neighborhood of homes it would seem that the most liberal test open to us must be whether the use is one that is so necessary in connection with a one family detached house or so commonly to be expected with such a house that it cannot be supposed the ordinance was intended to prevent it?"

"In this connection the courts of the Commonwealth appear much more zealous than our own newspapers and perhaps some of our officials. To quote from Lexington V. Govenar, 295 Mass. 31:

"The beauty of a residential neighborhood is for the comfort and happiness of the residents and it tends to sustain the value of property in the neighborhood."

"I was amazed to read of suggestions for means to void the effect of the court's decision in the instant case, of steps to take to amend Andover's by-laws to permit deterioration of residential values. I feel sure that the owners of residences are alert and that this campaign to degrade Andover's prime characteristic will fail. Each owner recognizes that, under such an amendment, his property may be degraded at any time by trucks parked on adjoining properties."

"You may ask how I dare to discuss these legal questions in the light of the opinions expressed by the attorneys in your news releases. I practiced law in another state for many years and I am not unfamiliar with legal research. The strange absence of interest in and sympathy for the property owner intrigued me and I undertook to search the law. It is my opinion, for what it is worth, that any appeal brought on the grounds mentioned in your columns would be frivolous and a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Henry M. Wolfson

(Editor's Note: Mr. Wolfson's legal opinion agrees with that expressed by Atty. Arthur Harper. Atty. O'Brien and Atty. Shaker have different opinions. It is this type of disagreement over the meaning of laws and rulings that create court cases.)

Mr. Wolfson is concerned about the "unorganized and unrepresented" home owner. We're wondering whether it is not a minority of home owners involved here, attempting to achieve a goal that will, in its ultimate interpretation, be bad for the town.)

Male Choir Sang In Haverhill

The Andover Male Choir recently presented an evening of musical entertainment at the guest night of the Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church in Haverhill.

An appreciative audience heard a varied program of secular and sacred, popular and serious selections. A feature of the concert was a group of baritone solos sung by Oscar Vaughan of Andover, a regular member of the Male Choir.

Among the 30 members participating in this presentation were four charter members: Fred Cheever, Jim Christie, Dave Forbes, and the Director, J. Everett Collins. These men have been singing together since December, 1927, when an impromptu group singing around a piano decided to organize and hold regular rehearsals.

The group now includes men of all ages, occupations, religions, education, and racial backgrounds from all parts of Greater Lawrence and neighboring communities. Rehearsals are held Tuesday evenings in the music room of the Andover Junior High School and are open to all men, young and old, who like to sing.

At present, the Andover Male Choir is rehearsing with the Andover Choral Society for their Spring Concert to be presented at the Andover High School auditorium Wednesday, May 17, at 8:15 p.m. In addition to a variety of selections for male, female, and mixed choruses, the Male Choir takes pleasure in presenting soprano solos by Catherine Goss, a rising young singer from Beverly whose lovely voice shows great promise.

The Spring Concert will be directed by J. Everett Collins. The accompanist is Ann DiLavore.

Abbot Bazaar Comes May 6

Saturday, May 6, from 2 to 6 p.m., Abbot Academy will hold its annual bazaar in celebration of the school's 132nd birthday.

The theme of the bazaar is "An Old-Fashioned Country Fair." Faculty chairman of the committee is Mrs. Dorothy J. Quintal, Bookstore manager. The student chairman is Claudia Kerr, president of the Class of 1962.

There will be the usual booths — gifts, flowers and plants, wishing well, surprise package, white elephant, refreshments and candies, home cooked foods and fortune telling. The tea room is a popular spot for rest and refreshment.

Throughout the bazaar, there will be a variety of games and contests. The auction, toward the end of the afternoon, is always a source of entertainment and excitement and provides opportunity for profitable shopping.

Members of the Preparatory Class will present a play twice during the afternoon; and Mrs. Arlon B. Clarke will give demonstrations of obedience tests with her poodles. The Andover Bagpipers will be on hand during the bazaar.

All visitors are cordially welcome at the bazaar. It will go on, rain or shine. The proceeds will be used chiefly for scholarships.
